AWARD HISTORY

Defender of the Year

January 14, 2011 marked the inaugural Defender of the Year Award Ceremony, recognizing and honoring members of our military who command fully operational and deployed missile defense systems. Each year the award is given to a United States Armed Forces service member from each branch that currently deploys a U.S. missile defense system for their outstanding work in the previous year. These select individuals represent the best in leadership and personal effort, demonstrating their commitment to excellence and their critical role in missile defense. They are an inspiration to their subordinates, peers, and superiors.

The purpose of this award is to recognize exceptional individuals and their role in defending our homeland, armed forces, and allies. Recognizing them helps to educate the American public and inspire those they work with to defend our nation.

The Defenders of the Year are selected by their peers and commanding officers from the United States Army, United States Navy, United States Air Force, and the United States National Guard.

We want to thank all those who have supported MDAA for over a decade to fulfill its mission to educate the American public on the need for our nation to develop and deploy missile defense.

ABOUT MDAA

The Missile Defense Advocacy Alliance

MDAA's mission is to make the world safer by advocating for the development and deployment of missile defense systems to defend the United States, its armed forces, and its allies against missile threats.

MDAA is the only organization in existence whose primary mission is to educate the American public about missile defense issues and to recruit, organize, and mobilize citizens to advocate for the critical need of missile defense. We are a non-profit organization that does not advocate on behalf of any specific system, technology, architecture, or entity.

MDAA was founded by Riki Ellison in 2002 to generate public support through education for the continued testing, development, and deployment of missile defense systems.

U.S. MISSILE DEFENDER of the YEAR

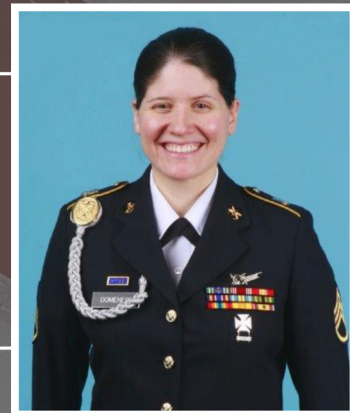

Lieutenant Colonel Anthony J. Owens

Lieutenant Colonel Anthony J. Owens is Deputy Chief, Integrated Air and Missile Defense Division, Headquarters United States Air Forces Europe – Air Force Africa, Ramstein Air Base, Germany. He is responsible for providing staff support to POTUS-directed European Phased Adaptive Approach for ballistic missile defense. He leads planning and integration of air and ballistic missile defense capabilities for NATO, EUCOM and bi-lateral partners within the Levant. Lieutenant Colonel Owens received his commission in 1996 upon graduating from the Reserve Officer Training Corps program at the University of South Alabama. His first two assignments were with Control and Reporting Centers at the 728th Air Control Squadron and 603d Air Control Squadron. Additionally, he commanded the 623d Air Control Flight, and served as the Operations Officer for the 606th Air Control Squadron. His most recent assignment, he commanded the 752d Operations Support Squadron. As an air battle manager, Lieutenant Colonel Owens provided command and control for Operations SOUTHERN WATCH / NEW DAWN and flew 22 E-3 combat sorties in support of Operations IRAQI FREEDOM and ENDURING FREEDOM. Lt Col Owens is a senior air battle manager with over 1150 flying hours.

Petty Officer First Class Nathaniel Lynch

Petty Officer Nathaniel Lynch enlisted in the Navy on February 8, 2005 and completed Recruit Training in Great Lakes, Illinois. After graduating Fire Controlmen "A" school, he then went on to attend Aegis Computer "C" school at Aegis Training and Readiness Center, Dahlgren, Virginia. In July 2006, he reported onboard USS PHILIPPINE SEA and completed two successful deployments to the Arabian Gulf. He returned to Dahlgren, VA for additional schooling in the Aegis Computer Network pipeline in support of his ship's Cruiser Modernization in June 2009. His efforts during USS PHILIPPINE SEA's Cruiser Modernization resulted in his selection as the Junior Sailor of the Year. After completing another deployment in support of piracy, in July 2011 he transferred to Aegis Training and Readiness Center as a "CM school instructor. Petty Officer Lynch is currently stationed onboard USS JOHN PAUL JONES. Since stepping onboard in May 2015, he immediately took on the Leading Petty Officer position for CF Division and led 20 Sailors through a compressed training cycle. Petty Officer Lynch's division simultaneously conducted 16 successful live firing missile events of which two were the longest surface to surface and surface to air missile firings in Naval history.

Chief Warrant Officer 2 Kevin M. Kruthers

Chief Warrant Officer 2 Kevin M. Kruthers enlisted in the Army in 2004 as a Patriot Enhanced Operator/Maintainer. In October 2010, he attended Warrant Officer Candidate School at Fort Rucker. He masterfully executed “Austere Challenge” including GCC STRATCOM level visibility messaging via Multi-National Patriot Live Fire with his unit’s Radar Set and PAC-3 ELES Launching Stations. He exceeded expectations during “Juniper Cobra.” He was hand selected by BN leadership to serve as Convoy Commander of the longest convoy within the BN in support of “Minden Shock.” He was the Honor Graduate of his Patriot Top Gun Course and Distinguished Honor Graduate of WOAC. He is also a graduate of the ADAFCO Course. In 2016, CW2 Kruthers was assigned to 10th AAMDC and was selected by COL Eickhoff to lead existing defense designs updates while simultaneously initiating development of defense designs for previously non-existent OPLANS. He served as “lynch pin” in Austere Challenge 17 Crisis Action Planning within 603rd Air Operations Center Strategy Division and Combat Plans, providing air and missile defense expertise for the Area Air Defense Plan development. He led efforts in support of garnering HQDA approval for DPICC Operational Needs Statement resulting in enhanced warfighter and combat readiness. CW2 Kruthers won the esteemed 2016 Shipton Award recognizing his efforts above all others in the ADA Branch holistically.
